Coaching in therapy - Advanced

This course is for Cerebral Palsy Alliance employees

Who is the course for?

This course is available for Allied Health professionals.

The Coaching in Therapy – Advanced Training is an extension of the Coaching in Therapy training and is designed to consolidate and further embed the skills learned from this course.

A coaching framework is increasingly being applied within our service delivery at Cerebral Palsy Alliance. Coaching involves relationship directed, and client/family centred intervention. The skills needed for effective coaching take time to develop and involve an ongoing cycle of reflective practice.

What content does the course cover?

The Coaching in Therapy – Advanced Course will involve small group case study discussion. All participants will be required to bring a case study for discussion where they have used parts or all of the coaching framework with a client and/or family. Case study discussions will involve the entire coaching process including:

- Joint planning
- Observation
- Action / practice
- Reflection
- Feedback.

This course aligns with clinical competencies relating to coaching skills.

Does the course have prerequisites or specific requirements?

The following must be completed before attending:

- Complete full Coaching in Therapy - Basic training (7 sessions in total)
- Has started using the coaching framework with at least 3 clients
- Capacity to commit to 2 hours of training
- Development of a case study using template provided
- Willingness to present a 10 minute case study involving a client that is on active caseload
- Willingness to actively engage in small group discussion and reflect on own practice resulting in more effective coaching skills

Coaching skills and appropriate timing for attendance at this training can be discussed with clinical supervisors.
